the body-waste producing uric acid must be gradually arrested and the blood purified.

Correct diet is essential. Abstain from tea and anything containing alcohol; eat meat only once a day and take SCOTT'S EMULSION which makes new blood free from the poisonous products which irritate the joints and muscles. Its wonderful powers relieve the enlarged, stiffened joints; and replace body-strength by its concentrated nourishing properties.

NO FIRST-CLASS PASSAGE HERE

The entrance of the Cunard line into the Canadian passenger and cargo service two years ago was welcomed as an event of imperial importance. This was due to the unique position held by the company and to the expectation that there would be displayed in the new service that enterprise and care in management which has won for it a premier position among the maritime assets of the nation. The expectation has already been realized; the company has had built specially for the service two steamers of an unusual type. They do not carry any first-class passengers; the second-class passengers occupy those parts of the ship usually given up to the first class, and although the decorations may not be quite so elaborate, the accommodation is as spacious, as admirably arranged and as well ventilated and lighted.

The new vessels, named the Anania and Alania, were built by the Scott's Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Limited, Greenock. The vessels are 540 ft. long, 84 ft. beam and 46 ft. deep moulded, with a gross registered tonnage of 13,300 tons. There are nine decks and the flying-bridge is 50 ft. above the load line. There is accommodation for 520 second class passengers, besides 1620 third class, for whom specially well-lighted quarters are arranged—all being in staterooms. In addition, the vessels take 9,500 tons deadweight, and yet at the service speed of 14½ knots the coal consumption will only be about 120 tons per day. The engines are of the quadruple-expansion type, of 7,500 horsepower. The cylinders are respectively 26 in., 37 in., 53 in. and 76 in. in diameter, with a 54 in. stroke. Steam at a pressure of 210 pounds is supplied by five double-ended boilers working under natural draught. The engines are balanced on the Yarrow-Schlick-Tweedy system, and the absence of vibration in every part of the ship was a most noticeable feature in the trial.

BIG WEIR FLEET NOW DWINDLED TO ONE

The Weir Line of big freighters which for some years past operated in the north Pacific from the Sound to the Orient, and on several occasions was represented at the port of Honolulu, is rapidly passing from the western ocean. The steamship Orteric, with a large delegation of immigrants from Spain and Portugal, was the last vessel in the service to visit the Hawaiian Islands. Now comes the report from the coast that the fleet has dwindled to an extent that the well known Orteric is the only vessel flying the Weir house flag in the far eastern trade. A marked reduction in freight rates is assigned as the cause of withdrawal. The Royal Mail Steam Packet and the Hamburg-American, lines entered the Pacific business, which caused the Weir steamships to be placed in more lucrative trade. The service of the Weir line numbered the Kumeric, Aymeric, Oceanic, and Suveric, which vessels handled great cargoes. But in 1909 this class of vessel was thought too small for the business, and the Luceric and Orteric were built and made a number of trips.

Freight rates in other parts of the globe then began to look more attractive to Andrew Weir and associates, and one by one, their ships were withdrawn from the Pacific. A number of ships were chartered to maintain the trade, and the Orteric was kept in the business up to recently.

It is possible that Andrew Weir may establish a round-the-world line with the opening of the Panama canal. The Pacific has not felt the withdrawal of the Weir liners, for two other lines, the Hamburg-American and the Royal Mail, have established themselves in this trade, and are working up a good business between Europe and the Pacific coast by way of the Orient.
